About the Milwaukee Public Museum

At the Milwaukee Public Museum (MPM), we educate, explore, discover, and preserve the world and its people. With three floors of exhibits, MPM features life-size dioramas, a rainforest and live butterfly garden, as well as a Dome Theater and the Daniel M. Soref Planetarium. Our collections make connections between cultures, across continents, and through time. So whether you take a small step back in time to the turn-of-the-century Streets of Old Milwaukee or a giant leap back more than 65 million years to The Third Planet to see life-sized re-creations of dinosaurs in their natural habitat, you know that each visit will be a journey of discovery for your family.
